

How will the Faroe Islands' virtual power plant system work?

Designed to protect against sudden power failures, or decreases in the power production, the virtual power plant system, Power Hub, developed by Dong Energy, will provide the Faroe Islands with a more secure energy supply, allowing them to integrate the five-fold increase in wind generation planned over the next two years.

Can the Faroe Islands be a smart microgrid?

"The energy system in the Faroe Islands is an impressive example of how all available energy resources can be integrated into a smart and innovative microgrid," says Vehkakoski.

What is DONG Energy doing in the Faroe Islands?

Dong Energy and its Faroese partner SEV launched a smart grid system at To&#224;OE?rshavn in the Faroe Islands. The Faroe Islands project uses a virtual power plant to recreate balance in an island power system by decoupling large industrial units automatically, in less than a second from the main power system and thereby avoid systemic blackouts.

Will the Faroe Islands use more green energy in 2025?

Even more conservative scenarios predict that the Faroe Islands' current electricity consumption of approximately 350,000 MWh per year will increase to approximately 450,000 MWh in 2025. "The current discussion recommends using more green energy and especially the potential for wind energy is quite high," says one of the islanders.

How does the Faroe Islands project work?

The Faroe Islands project uses a virtual power plant to recreate balance in an island power system by decoupling large industrial units automatically, in less than a second from the main power system and thereby avoid systemic blackouts. In more technical terms the virtual power plant delivers so-called fast frequency demand response.

Are there renewables in the Faroe Islands?

"In the Faroe Islands, we are blessed with renewables: we have wind, hydro and some sun in the summer; we also have tidal and wave power where we can see great potential," says Nielsen. Since announcing its green vision in 2014, SEV has already done a lot to increase the share of renewables in its energy mix.
